Hi Honey:

Enclosed find 1969 license sticker of which I just got for you. Now this is stuck on in the upper corner of your license plates. Please do so right away so you don't get picked up. Take a dry cloth and clean the dirt off before you stick it on.

After you left Monday morning I went home for lunch, and there sticking just partly out of the snow bank was your tire, and as I went by it I thought to myself well thats par for the course- just throw it out and where it lands is someone else's problem. I turned around to pick it out of snow and carry it around to the trash can, and I about flipped my cork. For once I was glad of the horrid habits my children have regarding throwing things just anywhere. I just could not believe it- what I saw-- Stephanie, I would like to ask you just one question? What in hell would you do if you happen to have another flat tire? I hope you realize that in order for a tire to work on a car, it must have a wheel to fit on. In other words, you just cant put a tire on the car unless you have a wheel--right? So, what are you going to do if you get another flat tire-- I mean other than buying another wheel for about 80.00, of which of course I am not about to do. Well, at any rate, the wheel ~~is~~ was on the old ripped up tire in the snowbank. I stood there in just stark, utter, unbelievable amazement. How could anyone throw away the only wheel they have for a spare tire to go on--what would you possibly be thinking of. I don't know, maybe I'm behind the times and they teach all the gals at St. Catherines not to worry about the extra wheel on a car, that maybe the good Saint Catherine will just pick up the car and let it go on 3 wheels.

Well, I have your wheel in the garage, and I would suggest that you come home the first weekend you can to get the wheel you threw away chicken. As matters stand now, if you get a flat, you will have to be towed into a service station, have them take the tire off and fix it, and put it back on the same wheel while you wait for it- if they will do it, as it is now impossible to put on a spare on out on the road, or in a service station without going through this procedure. This is what makes life interesting of course-- even the most unbelievable things happen every day. If you ever have to take the lock off the door to fix it for any reason or other--DONT THROW THE KEY AWAY.

If I sound like I am a little perturbed--I'm not---I just joined the "People do the craziest things club" however.

Well now that you know what you did, and what kind of a pickle your in, I hope you don't have a flat anywhere, especially out on the highway, and as I mentioned, I would get home here as soon as you can to get this wheel.

Hope everything is going fine honey, and you dont have a flat.

Love
